Headlines

The egg market situation is currently very unclear. SEPR reports of uncertainty price wise, which is best put down to lack of demand, rather than over production, consumers are very much watching their pennies, with higher demand for the bargain packs, with Medium and Small supply's being tight.

Wheat prices at the beginning of February have been increasing as a result of the US crop remaining in a poor condition as demand continues to be strong. However Canada is expected to plant larger areas at the expense of OSR.
